Insight & Action

The road sign said "Dip." Sure enough, about 100 yards further down the road there was a big dip. While the sign is helpful, one has to ask why the highway department could not fix the dip instead of putting up a sign.

Our lives are often the same way. We say: "I have a quick temper;" or "You know that I fly off the handle easily," or "I can't help it. I'm just that way." Isn't that a little like the state saying "If we put up a 'dip' sign, everything is okay? We don't have any more responsibility."

Warning people that there are dips, while doing nothing about fixing them, is just plain wrong. Signs are not enough. A healthy life does require insight, but it also requires action.
